

Manuel A. Coimbra

Manuel A. Coimbra, born 19/05/1963 in Aveiro, is graduated in Biochemistry (U Porto - 1985), PhD in Chemistry, Branch of Biochemistry (U Aveiro - 1993) and has "Agregação" in Chemistry – Biochemistry and Food Chemistry (U Aveiro – 2003). Is Associated Professor of the University of Aveiro, teaching Biochemistry and Food Chemistry and is Director of the 1st cycle of studies in the graduation in Biochemistry.

The principal research interests are carbohydrate chemistry, polysaccharides, glycobiology, food chemistry and biochemistry, and secondary metabolites.

He was a former president of the Portuguese Carbohydrate Group (2001 – 2003) and hosts the organisation of the first Iberian Carbohydrate Meeting in Aveiro (1999).

MA Coimbra is member of the Editorial Board of Carbohydrate Polymers, Elsevier, since 1999, and collaborates as Referee in a large number of scientific journals and projects evaluations in the area of Applied Chemistry and Food Science. He has 83 original articles cited in the Science Citations Index, his co-author of one technical book (Red Wine Technology) and one students book (Biochemistry) and has 1 international patent.